Nation To Honor Navy October 27

Johnson Issues Proclamation For State Observance

Marks Effort To Make Uncle Sam's Sea Strength World's Greatest

Governor Keen Johnson has asked all Kentuckians to observe October 27 as Navy Day. The Governor's proclamation pointed out that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox had requested the observance be given special emphasis this year in view of the world wide situation.

In the midst of great effort to become the unquestionable naval power, naval activities will pause to make this one of the biggest Navy Days ever.

The Navy League, since 1922 sponsor of Navy Day, has chosen the slogan "The Nation Salutes the Navy."

October 27 was selected as Navy Day because it was on that day in 1775 the first Navy bill was introduced in the halls of the Continental Congress, authorizing the first U. S. Navy, 12 brigs, sloops and essentials for the organization of a United States fleet, and because this is the date of the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt who fought for a strong navy adequate to our national need.

FLOATING DENTAL OFFICES PROVIDED BY NAVY FOR UNCLE SAM'S SAILORS

THE NAVY DENTAL OFFICER pictured above is working on the teeth of an enlisted man in the ship's dental office aboard the U.S.S. Salt Lake City, 10,000-ton cruiser.

Included among the fifty-odd trade and vocational training courses open to recruits in the U. S. Navy or Naval Reserve who pass the required examination is dental technician schooling. This course, like all Navy trade and vocational courses, is free and provides an excellent groundwork for a future career in later civilian life. All recruits receive their regular Navy pay during the period they are at a Navy trade school. This training is valued at hundreds of dollars.

Crider

Crider homemakers club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Virgil Coleman. Mrs. W. W. Glenn, chairman, had charge of the meeting. During the business session plans were made for a social to be held Hallowe'en night at the home of Mrs. Hugh Yates for club members and their guests.

The major project lesson was given by Mrs. Harlan Ennis, who gave demonstrations of mixtures for cleaning household articles, that may be made at home and used on furniture and wood work. The minor project was given by the home agent.

Singing of some familiar songs made up the social program. The club adjourned to

3 Kentucky Girls In National Contest

Mary Ellen Routt, an Oldham county girl who has entered the national 4-H club clothing contest, has made 392 garments, many of them for other people. Money received for her work will be used to pay for a high school education.

Evelyn Fischer, another Oldham county girl, has entered the national canning contest. "Born in comfortable circumstances, in a large city, my father's health failed and we were forced to seek a haven on a small desolate farm in Oldham county," she writes. Her canning has helped her family to have a balanced diet, says Miss Lillie Hembree, the county home demonstration agent.

A third Oldham county girl will enter the national faads contest. She is Shirley Moser, daughter of a dairy farmer. In addition to four years of 4-H club foods work, she has had five years of dairying, four years of canning and five years of clothing work.

Pumpkin Bread Good Fall Food

Recipe for pumpkin bread (made in pones) recommended by the home economics department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics:

2 cups sifted cornmeal (white or yellow)
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup stewed pumpkin
3 tablespoons fat
½ cup of milk
Mix the cornmeal, salt, pumpkin and melted fat together, then add the milk. Shape the dough, which should be fairly stiff, by tossing it from hand to hand into small pones, 1 inch thick, 4 inches long, and 2½ inches wide. Lay them in a hot pan which has been sprinkled with cornmeal and heated until the cornmeal has turned somewhat brown. Bake in a hot oven until there is a brown crust. This will make about 12 pones.

Why Joe Likes Carrots

Oklahoma City (AP) — Carrots says Joe Passero, got him into the navy.
Joe was at the navy recruiting office at 7:30 A. M. on the day he was 17 years old, waiting for the recruiting officer to open the place. He wanted to enlist.

The doctors rejected him because of his eyesight and Joe went directly to an eye doctor. The specialist gave him corrective lenses and said he believed they would strengthen his eyes.

Joe wore the glasses every day. Then friends told him they had heard that the eating of carrots sometimes strengthened eyesight. So Joe ate carrots, as many as a rabbit. In fact he lived almost exclusively upon them for several weeks.

A month after his first visit he went back to the navy recruiting office. They tested his eyes and they were satisfactory.

Here's Hallowe'en Magic To Bewitch Party Guests

By Mrs. Alexander George AP Feature Writer

Don't let Hallowe'en slide in on you without planning some traditional trimmings.

Put in lunch boxes cup cakes frosted with chocolate icing with faces of candy corn. Dark bread with cream cheese and raisin filling, cut round, and with raisin features stuck on with cheese or butter, will cause merriment. Raisins or dates can, also be used for making faces on popcorn balls. Stick them on with wood picks or syrup and wrap in black cellophane.

A Jack o' Lantern does double duty, first filled with fruit for the center of the dining table, then for the youngsters to carry around the neighborhood.

Select for the lantern a large, flat pumpkin. Cut a square off the top and remove seeds and pulp. Cut faces on two sides of the pumpkin, one frowning, the other grinning. Fit a wide candle in the bottom.

If it is first to hold fruit or cookies, line the inside with waxed paper.

Here is a Hallowe'en Salad: Make a green-colored gelatin salad ring. Unmold on shredded lettuce. Center with small dish filled with mayonnaise or salad dressing—it must be a bright yellow—and top with cheese pumpkins, made by shaping and marking two-inch balls of yellow cream cheese. Trim with parsley.

For Mashed Potato Pumpkins: Color potatoes with orange coloring or egg yolks and roll into two-inch balls. Flatten each end slightly, mark with a knife and stick in any green vegetable stems. These surround a platter of broiled chops, steak, sliced ham or meat loaf.

A meat or chicken pot pie can have a face cut from its pastry top.

For the Doughnut Special of the day there are these grinning faces. Roll out doughnut batter as usual, but cut with a round cookie cutter. Fry until well browned, allowing an extra minute to cook the balls clear through. Cool and dip in a soft orange icing. Stick in wooden skewers and let dry.

Paint faces on the doughnut lolly pops with a wood pick, dipped in melted sweet chocolate.

Black Magic Tarts

2 squares unsweetened chocolate.

1 1-3 cups sweetened condensed milk.
½ cup orange juice.
1 tablespoon grated rind
2 oranges.

8 baked tart shells.
Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add milk and stir over rapidly boiling water until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add orange juice and rind, and blend thoroughly. Cut orange sections into small pieces, free from membrane and arrange in baked tart shells. Cover with chocolate mixture. Chill.

Make a stiff paper pattern of a witch, jack-o-lantern or cat. Cut with a sharp knife or a cookie cutter from pastry rolled 1-8 in. thick. Brown on a cookie sheet. Cool. Place one on each tart.

Number Magic

St. Joseph, Mo. (AP)—Selectee Dick McFarland, whose name has 13 letters, was the 13th man drawn August 13 for induction into the army. At Fort Leavenworth he drew an army serial number ending thus: 1313. And his draft registration number also ended in 13.

Schools Close Early To Save On Gasoline

Bronxville, N. C. (AP)—Classroom schedules have been changed in the Bronxville public schools as a result of Secretary Ickes' gasoline economy program.

It all started because 50 of the 1,400 pupils were unable to catch a train that left at 3:34 p. m. four minutes after the previous dismissal time. As a result many parents drove several miles in their automobiles to pick up the youngsters.

The school officials decided to let classes out 14 minutes earlier. And because there couldn't be any discrimination, the other 1,350 students just have that much more time for play.

You Should Know Your Vitamins

Vitamins are definite chemical substances which occur in small amounts of food. A sufficient daily intake of these vitamins is essential for growth, development and maintenance of health. Often the normal dietary is insufficient or restricted so that the required amount of these vitamins is not obtained. In such case an accessory source of these vitamins in concentrated form is necessary to supplement dietary deficiencies.

One of the first foods recognized as a concentrated source of vitamins A and D was Cod Liver Oil.

Vitamin A is essential for the normal development and growth, resistance to infections (colds, etc.) and increases ability to see in very dim or dark blue light.

Vitamin D is indicated for poor assimilating calcium and phosphorus, aids in developing strong teeth and bones, increases vitality and prevents rickets.

WE OFFER A BOX OF 50 McKESSON HALBET LIVER OIL (PLAIN) 79 cents (Contains 98 times the U. S. P. dose of vitamin A, and 1,000 units vitamin D. "Accepted by the American Medical Association.")

Erosion Control Again Stressed

Use Of Diversion Terraces Recommended In State

Expansion in the use of diversion terraces to control erosion is one of the principal recommendations in the report of the landuse planning committee in Pendleton county, Ky. While a large number of farmers in the county have successfully controlled erosion by skillful management, it is generally agreed in most instances some mechanical means is necessary.

Handling of bushy and rocky lands also was given consideration by the planning committee. Such land, for the most part, can be restored to good pasture, it was said. A few small areas are so badly eroded and so rocky that they should be planted to trees. The use of legumes to help bring land back was suggested.

Livestock will be needed in the Pendleton county soil improvement program. For the benefit of farmers without funds the committee called attention to various types of agricultural credit.

Problem of adequate water supply was mentioned in several communities. While two privately-owned bulldozers are now employed in construction farm reservoirs, the committee suggested that by cooperative action a saving would be possible.

The report was prepared by the county planning committee, in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics and the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Waggie", Blind Charlie's Pal, To Lose Job To Seeing Eye Dog

"Waggie," a small yellow dog that has guided her blind master, "Old Charlie" the bootblack, about streets of Princeton the last 8 years is about to lose her job. But not her place in the heart of the sightless man.

Charlie, a familiar figure on the corner of Harrison and Main street for 42 years got word three weeks ago that a large tobacco company would give him a real "seeing eye" dog in exchange for 85,000 empty cigarette packages. So Princeton, the entire populace knowing the blind Negro, has pitched in; and the containers they have saved now total almost 20,000.

About three more weeks should net the total and then Old Charlie will leave Princeton for a training period in which he will learn how to follow his new pilot.

Then "Waggie" will retire, and Old Charlie, who has never been known to beg but always to work for the livelihood he picked up from his shoe shine business will go about safer from autos and other hazards. Because, tho Waggie is dear, her

Says Retailers Should Advertise

Executive Warns Public Will Forget Firms After War

Newspapers are the basic, sound medium for advertising, and 65 cents of every advertising dollar should be spent in that medium, E. R. Richer, advertising manager and vice-president of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, Chicago, declared at the closing session of the Greater Buffalo Advertising Club's annual exhibit and defense show, at Buffalo, N. Y.

Retailers must continue to advertise even though, because of the absorption of raw materials by national defense, they have a minimum of goods to sell, Mr. Richer said.

"The important thing for the advertiser at this time is not necessarily to sell goods, but to keep his name before the public," Mr. Richer said. "If he does not do so, he will find at the close of the war that people have forgotten him and this would be fatal to many firms as it was in the last war."

Johnson Tells

Warden W. Jess Buchanan delivered a brief address of welcome and Mr. Gilliam told of work of building the new Prison, begun during the administration of Gov. A. Chandler, in 1937. The new block will not be ready for occupancy until late in December.

Governor Johnson told of being born at Brandeis Chapel, in the Between-Rivers section of Lyon county, and of his joy in again being among those with whom he spent his early boyhood. He told of the long neglect of the institutions, over a period of years, and said all would be rehabilitated during his administration.

Governor Johnson said all outstanding warrants of the State would be paid within a year and promised to guard against Kentucky again running in debt.

Dr. Frost said Kentucky one of the foremost states in the Union in developing a system of paroles and probation and told his listeners that each 100 prisoners paroled into society and became law-abiding citizens, under the Kentucky system. He said society neglected for many years make proper efforts to help coming out of prison but Kentucky is now doing a splendid work toward this.

Following the ceremony visitors inspected the new block and the entire program throughout the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan entertained the Governor and other visitors at luncheon. The chief executive and his party left Frankfort about 4 o'clock.
